

I am not in favor of the deregulating the media and allowing most tv, newspapers and radios stations to be owned by a few individuals....This is a definite reduction of allowing diverse opinions to be communicated to a variety of people. Certainly living in a democracy we would not want to do this.

The rules that the FCC intend, need to be communicated far and wide using all vehicles of communication and then then need to be debated in public. Just pushing this through with such little coverage and discussion----sounds like a conspiracy.

Please do not de-regulate and let the people have their say.
